Privacy Policy

(1) Introduction

Feed My Lambs, Inc. adheres to a policy that protects client confidentiality. There are several protocols in place to protect a client from fraudulent use of their name and/or information. To become a recipient of services at Feed My Lambs, Inc., the client must provide documents verifying their information to see if they are eligible to receive services.

(2) Use of your Personal Information

No one is given information from any file except the client themselves. No information is given out by phone or email. Feed My Lambs enhances client privacy by the utilization of locked file cabinets. A cyber enhancement protects files by having a security code on the office computer where these files are stored. Additionally, the food office is kept locked at all times when not in use. The director and limited trained volunteers are the only persons able to have access to this information in the office.
